Functions and Responsibilities

- The National Service (NSS) provides "social service and education to and for the societies."
- It is a curriculum designed to train students to serve the public's needs as needed.
- A disaster management program was held to raise student understanding of how to act promptly and safely in dangerous situations.
- The main goal of this is to get students involved in the various service projects related to rural development and to help them comprehend the difficulties that rural residents confront.
